

FLOWER SPOT MOTIF

A graphed pattern

© Kim Salazar, 2011, 2012; <http://www.string-or-nothing.com>

This pattern is adapted from a photo of a coif and forehead cloth, dated 1600-1620 in the collections of the Manchester Art Gallery. You can find a photo at <http://www.manchestergalleries.org/the-collections/search-the-collection/> by searching for item #2003.63/2. It is hard to discern on the original the exact nature of the little spot to the lower right of each flower. It may be the remains of a diamond shaped boxed cross, or four knot stitches. If I were to do a coif using this design, I'd probably sew a sequin in each of those spots instead.

One motif is 13 stitches wide and 11 stitches tall. The repeat as used on the original artifact is offset by one unit, as shown on the graph. For best results, please take time to confirm all stitch and row counts..
